

No Bull Project Management

Dealing with the Politics and People Issues that Bring Projects Down

Presented to:

Dave Po-Chedley, PMP

Dave@CambridgeConsult.com

401-788-0930

May 9, 2018

No Bull Success Factors

1. Position your project as a strategic investment

2. Define success and get out of the way

3. Be easy to do business with

4. Practice No Bull communications

5. Promote ideas and reward results

6. Have fun and get a lot done

1. Position Your Project As A Strategic Investment

Connect your project to:

- Organization goals
- Customer satisfaction
- The bottom line

Gain visibility for your project:

- The right message
- The right events
- The right people

2. Define Success And Get Out Of The Way

- Be a facilitator; don't micromanage
- Define outcome, measures, constraints, etc.
- Maximize involvement and ownership

3. Be Easy To Do Business With

- Be available and responsive
- Eliminate unnecessary irritations
- Simplify, Simplify, Simplify

4. Practice No Bull Communications

- Avoid the fuzzy stuff
- Lose the acronyms, jargon and other nonsense
- Use the right medium, frequency and detail

5. Promote Ideas and Reward Results

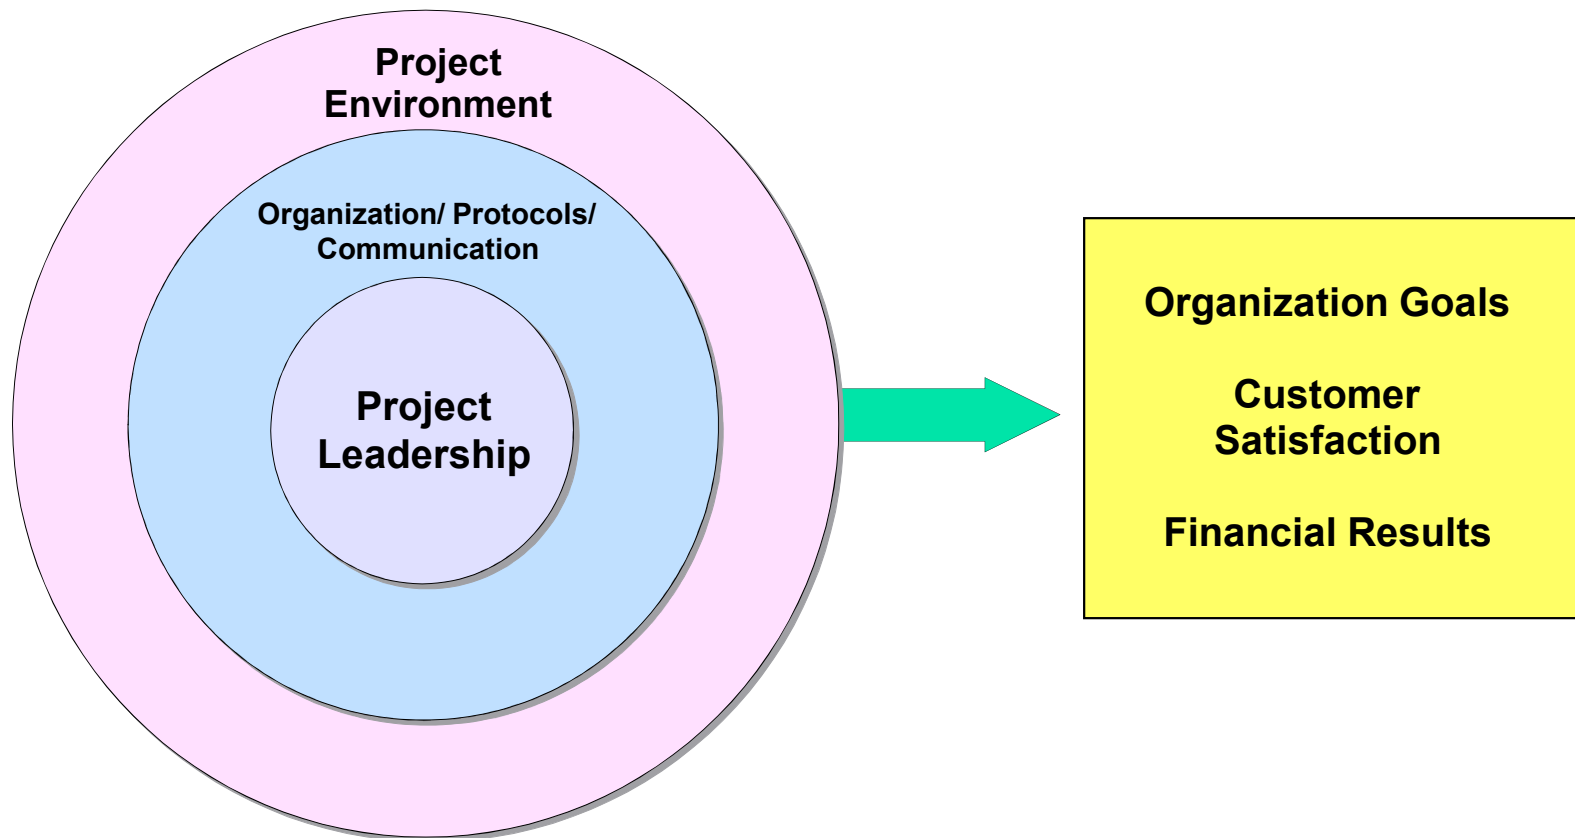

- Be sensitive to politics; don't get sucked in
- Foster informality
- Encourage creative conflict
- Make things happen for those who make things happen

6. Have Fun And Get A Lot Done

- Recognize achievements
- Celebrate success
- Create and nurture informal communication

Putting It All Together

Thank You!

David Po-Chedley, PMP

Cambridge Consulting, Inc.

401-788-0930

dave@CambridgeConsult.com

Dave Po-Chedley, PMP, has been actively involved in project management for over 30 years. He has worked on and managed projects and helped others to manage projects effectively through consulting and training. He is a Principal at Cambridge Consulting, a firm dedicated to enhancing project effectiveness for clients around the world. Thousands of people from organizations in North America, Europe, Africa, Asia, Australia and South America have benefited from workshops and consulting services provided by Mr. Po-Chedley. They include General Dynamics, Google, United Airlines, Boeing, General Motors, IBM, Salesforce, US House of Representatives, AT&T, Staples, Hasbro and General Electric. Dave has written several work books used to support client workshops and consulting services. Topics include project management, e-projects, coaching, customer service, managing problems/decisions and effective communication. His book, Client Relationship Management, is used by professionals around the world to create a competitive advantage for them and their organizations.